KS2  Relationship and Sex Education

Lesson plans: Year 5

Introduction
These four lessons have been written by PSHE Lead Teachers on behalf of Brighton & Hove City Council to support the PSHE education curriculum for Year 5 pupils. These lessons are informed by Brighton & Hove’s Relationship and Sex Education Guidance for Educational Settings (2015) including KS2 Core Messages for Puberty & Relationships and national guidance including that by the PSHE Association and the Sex Education Forum and the Children and Social Work Act (2017). Teachers are invited to adapt and develop these lesson plans to meet the needs of their pupils and are invited to share any ideas they have via the PSHE Forum on BEEM. Faith schools should seek advice from their Diocese.

Children and young people are naturally curious about growing up, how their bodies work and human relationships. Their questions need to be answered honestly, using language and explanations appropriate for their age and maturity, thus challenging misconceptions and addressing concerns and worries.

The purpose of RSE is to support children and young people to learn the skills they need to be safe, healthy and happy as they grow up and in their future lives. RSE must always be appropriate to pupils’ age and stage of development and is an essential part of safeguarding. RSE is learning about the emotional, social and physical aspects of growing up; healthy relationships, sex, human sexuality and sexual health.

Good practice in RSE should be informed by the principle that everyone has equal worth and everybody has a right to be included and treated with respect. We can introduce and reinforce these values through teaching about gender identity, family diversity, puberty and reproduction, and protective behaviours.

Relationships and sex education is not value free and will provide a curriculum opportunity to promote school values. The other key messages or values to promote could include:

- We have the right to feel safe all of the time
- We can talk with someone about anything even if it feels awful or small
- All bodies are different and there is no such thing as a perfect body
- We have the right to say no to touches we don’t like
- Families are all different and grow in different ways, but most are places of love and care
- Babies begin and get born in different ways
- In our friendships and relationships we try and treat each other with kindness and respect
- There are lots of different ways to be a girl, and lots of different ways to be a boy, and some people don’t feel like a boy or a girl
- In grown-up relationships a man and a woman can have a relationship and get married if they want to, so can two men or two women.

It is important to reflect on the language to use when delivering sessions of RSE. Addressing a class using personalised terms like 'you' can mean pupils receive this information as something they should be engaging in, whether or not that is the intention. Effectively this normalises the behaviour of the topic which is being delivered, or makes assumptions that might not be the case. An example could be ‘when you get a girlfriend or boyfriend’. Whilst this statement rightly accepts that most young people will at some time have a relationship, the fact the statement refers to 'you' is likely to make a pupil think ‘does this mean I am expected to have a relationship now? Adapting this statement to ‘if someone has a boyfriend / girlfriend’ can depersonalise the subsequent discussion and produce a safer environment for exploring the topic.

The use of the word ‘normal’ in PSHE education with a focus on equalities and diversity can be a stereotypical concept and would need to be challenged, for example, ‘girls normally play with dolls’. However in RSE, the use of the phrase ‘normal and healthy’ when talking about aspects of puberty, for example, ‘puberty can start from between age 10-16’, can be very reassuring. It is important, however, to be mindful of inclusive practice and issues of gender identity and sexual orientation and family diversity. Therefore, try to use inclusive language such as all genders rather than boys and girls, grown-ups instead of mums and dads (to ensure all family types feel included when discussion or reference is made to adults at home) and to not assume that all children will grow up to be heterosexual or be cisgender.

All children need to know the correct biological or medical names for the genitalia and reproductive organs. This will include using terms such as: vulva, vagina, clitoris, breasts, penis, testicles and scrotum and anus and nipples. In these lesson plans and in Feeling good, Feeling Safe vulva is used as the first word to learn as this word covers the external genitalia. Understanding this scientific language and having the confidence to use it to describe the personal and private parts of the body and knowing how to seek help is vital for safeguarding. In addition, using the phrase: the personal and private parts of the body, suggests that these body parts are private but not taboo and it is healthy and acceptable to name and talk about these parts.

Lesson Resources:
These lessons, the accompanying Power Points and resources are all available to download from BEEM. You will also find further guidance and lesson planning materials on the PSHE Education Service resources pages.

Assessment for and of learning opportunities are highlighted in the plans next to a suggested assessment activity and also at the end of each lesson plan.

Several of the lessons include film clips. These can be downloaded and saved for future use using websites such as Keep Vid at https://keepvid.com/

Safe learning environments:
As with all PSHE lessons it is very important to reflect on procedures and practices to establish a safe learning environment for pupils and staff. It is suggested that these lessons are delivered by a trained class teacher.

a. Before the lesson:
Schools have a statutory duty to inform parents and carers of their right to withdraw their child from relationships and sex education. Many schools inform parents and carers of their right to withdraw as part of the induction process into their school.

It would also be best practice to inform all parents and carers before teaching units of relationships and sex education so that firstly they can inform the school of any issues it could raise in their children and secondly so they can be ready to discuss issues or answer questions at home that may arise. Information about teaching and learning about RSE could be shared in meetings for parents and carers with the PSHE Co-ordinator as well as the usual curriculum information and year group specific letters informing them of what will be covered in the lessons and when they will be taught. Extra care should be taken, perhaps in partnership with EMAS, to ensure families with English as an additional language or faith perspectives understand this aspect of the curriculum and particularly its role in safeguarding children.

Prior to delivery of these lessons, reflect on the needs and experiences of children in your class for whom the content of the lesson may be a trigger for difficult or emotional feelings. For example this could include children who:

- Are looked after or have been adopted
- Have experienced family loss or bereavement
- Have experience personally, or within the family, of sexual abuse
- Have witnessed domestic abuse
- Are questioning their gender identity
- Have a special education need or disability such that their developmental stage might mean the lesson may not be appropriate for them.

Reflect on your own and or colleagues needs and confidence to deliver these lessons and seek support from your Senior Leadership Team if necessary. This may be a lesson where co-teaching with another colleague may be appropriate. Inform support staff about the use of language, this could include for example: use of scientific terms for personal and private parts of the body and use of the term ‘grown up’. In addition, explain ground rules for keeping everyone safe in the lesson particularly about sharing of personal information both by staff and children. If these sessions bring up issues for staff, then they should be encouraged to speak with someone who could support. If possible, consider teaching this lesson before a break or at the end of the day so that pupils and do not have to go straight into another lesson afterwards.

Rehearse answering questions with colleagues and perhaps devise a script for yourselves of possible answers to pupil questions and remember to use a question box to gain time to think about responses. Appendix 6 Relationship and Sex Education Guidance for Educational Settings (2015) provides scripts for answering questions.

b. During the lesson:
Some children may be supported to participate in the lesson by some pre-teaching before the lesson, some may need right to pass arrangements during the lesson and there may be some children for whom the lesson is not appropriate and alternative provision will needed. All arrangements should be discussed with the child, the school team around these more vulnerable children and in close consultation with parent and carers.

Be very clear and explicit about ground rules at the start of each lesson so that everybody feels safe to join in. For example, guide the class to think carefully about what they share in the public setting of the classroom and suggest no names are used and instead, say instead someone I know; my friend etc. This will reinforce the expectation of respectful behaviour and reduce unintentional disclosures. It is important for the teacher and any other members of staff not to offer personal experiences as this can make children feel unsafe and think that they are expected to do the same. Negotiate use of language, for example: use of scientific language for personal and private parts of the body so that everybody is clear and feels comfortable. Reassure the class that when we have relationships and sex education lessons we are helping them to understand how they can have healthy relationships themselves and keep others safe and make healthy choices in future.

Example ground rules could include: Listen; Try to join in; Be respectful; Encourage others; No personal questions; Use scientific language for personal and private parts of the body and Think about what you share; Adults can’t keep full confidentiality.

Develop rituals, by following a similar process for each lesson, children will feel more familiar and confident and engage more fully with the content of the lesson.

If you are unsure as to how to answer a question that arises in a lesson or how much to say, use holding phrases such as ‘That is a very important question and I am going to think about it some more and answer it next lesson’ can be very helpful. This will give opportunities to discuss appropriate answers with colleagues and /or contact the PSHE Team for advice. Providing opportunities to ask questions through ask – it baskets or thought walls will also give time to reflect on appropriate ways to answer children’s questions.

It is your responsibility to maintain a positive learning environment. Prejudice or stereotypes that go unchallenged will alienate individuals or groups affected and will reinforce the prejudiced view. See section 9.6 and appendix 7 of the Brighton & Hove Relationship and Sex Education Guidance for Educational Settings (2015)

Signpost pupils to key members of staff within school who they may wish to talk to about any issues raised during the lesson. Remind the group of where they can go to get help and signpost children to local and national organisations that they could contact for help and support.

Use the learning outcomes of the lesson to keep the lesson focused and on track and assess learning throughout and at the end of the lesson.

c. After the lesson:
Check in with identified children to see if they are ok. Feedback to parents, carers, SENCO, safeguarding lead as appropriate. Reflect on responses to questions raised with supportive colleagues. Evaluate the lesson and use this to improve the programme.

d. Further support
Further materials to support relationships and sex education lessons can be found on BEEM. For training for teaching in the delivery of effective relationships and sex education please contact the PSHE team: pshe@brighton-hove.gov.uk.
Learning Objectives:
From the Brighton and Hove Programme of Study for PSHE:
Children should have the opportunity in Key Stage 2 to learn:

PSHE Essential skills:
Essential skill 1 Identity, Self Awareness, resilience and Managing feelings
I can identify and suggest ways to cope with my range of feelings as I grow and change
I can identify and manage my feelings of embarrassment

I can suggest ways to manage the mood swings associated with puberty

Essential skill 2 Getting On with others
I can recognise what constitutes a positive, healthy relationship

I can grow positive and healthy relationships

Essential skill 3 Managing Risk
I can name my personal and private body parts

Essential skill 4 Getting help
I can tell you where I can get help as I grow and change
I can tell you where I can get help and support online

Essential skill 5  Media Messages- understanding and challenging /critical thinking

I can recognise that sometimes how someone looks; how their body grows and changes; who is in their family and who someone wants to be can be the target for bullying behaviour

I recognise prejudice and discrimination and challenge this safely

Suggested learning outcomes:

- I can identify the feeling of embarrassment and suggest strategies to manage this feeling
- I can make links between embarrassment and puberty
- I can tell you about puberty and how most children grow and change into adults
- I can describe how I feel about changing and growing
- I can talk and ask questions about puberty with more confidence
  - I can tell you what young people need to do to take care of themselves during puberty
Year 5 : Lesson 1

Suggested learning questions:
- What is embarrassment?
- How can we manage this feeling?
- What is the link between how our relationships change as we grow and feeling embarrassed?

</table>
Ask children how they feel about this learning. Acknowledge the difference between RSE lessons and other lessons in the curriculum. Emphasise that learning about RSE will help them to build their knowledge about themselves and help them to learn skills to keep us safe. Highlight that it is very understandable to feel embarrassed and recap some coping strategies.

For example:

- Take three slow calming out breaths
- Say to yourself: this feeling will pass
- Remind yourself of the reasons for this learning
- Try a grounding technique

Warm Up

Watch a short film clip as an introduction to the feeling of embarrassment.

For example: https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=Yr1wc4khkGM

Ask the children how the main character is feeling?

How do you know, what are the clues?

Clarify the feeling word embarrassment:

- Which words come into your mind when you hear the word embarrassment?
- Which word suggests the most embarrassment and which the least embarrassment?
- What is the opposite feeling?

Deepen this thinking by reflecting on what someone might experience in their body and what they might say or do if they feel embarrassed:

- What are the body signs of embarrassment?
- Is this the same for everyone?
- What might someone say or do if they feel like this?
• Is this a feeling everyone experiences?

Explain and normalise embarrassment by highlighting that this is a feeling everyone feels at some point to different extents. What is important is to recognise the feeling so that you can use strategies to manage it so that it does not become overwhelming and stop you from learning or taking part in activities.

Class teacher scribe class ideas on a large body outline and/or children record on their own body outlines.

Reflect on these questions and make a list as a class of possible situations when a year 5 age child might feel embarrassed:

• How do relationships change as children start to grow up?
• With family?
• With friends?
• Can you think of situations when a year 5 child might feel embarrassed?

Can the children make links between feeling embarrassed and changes at puberty?

Explain and reassure the children that embarrassment is a normal feeling and that we can think about strategies to cope with it.

Ask if anyone has helpful ways to cope with this feeling.

Class teacher make a list for display.

Let’s grow our knowledge of possible coping strategies for embarrassment by, for example, watching a short film:

How to deal with embarrassment

https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=9MW1OWcb39M

Afterwards ask which coping strategies they might like to add to the list?

What might help in a RSE lesson?
Highlight some possible strategies that could easily be applied to coping with embarrassment in RSE lessons:

- Take three slow calming out breaths
- Say to yourself: this feeling will pass and let the feeling go
- Remind yourself of the reasons for this learning
- Try a grounding technique
- Your idea?

Independent activity

Growing coping skills with feeling embarrassed

Ask children in pairs to read a selection of situation cards (related to RSE lesson) and decide from the list of coping strategies which they think would be helpful.

Feedback and discuss ideas.

Ask children to record which strategy they think might be helpful.

Closing activities:

Ask children to complete the sentence:

Next time I feel embarrassed I will...

Growing coping skills:

Highlight with the children that one of the strategies for coping with embarrassment is not to dwell on the feeling.

Watch, for example a Go Noodle Think about it film clip: Let it Go

https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=IVZuyjS7lv4

Where to get help:

Remind and reassure children that if they have a question or want to talk about a worry after this lesson that it is always ok to ask for help. Explain who, when and where they can get this help.

Assessment for and of learning:

Can the children recognise the signs of feeling embarrassed and suggest coping strategies?

Recap last lesson’s learning:

Warm up

Show the class a bag and explain that it is full of items that link to puberty. Ask if anyone can predict what is inside? (Include items such as: sanitary pads; tampons; diary; deodorant; body spray; flannel; soap; skin cream; magazine; phone etc.
Include some items that have aspects of gender stereotyping eg. colour/packaging etc and ask the children what they notice.)
Ask for some volunteers to pick an item out of the bag.

Can you explain how this item is linked to puberty? Remind the class that it’s ok to say if you are not sure.
Class teacher scribe class prior knowledge about puberty.

Ask talk partners to discuss and try to clarify the word: puberty.
Feedback and clarify.
Include:

- Puberty is a special and exciting time when a child starts to grow and change into a young adult. Puberty is the growing and changing needed for a person to be able to have children as a grown up if they choose to. Puberty is normal and happens to everyone.
- Hormones or chemical messengers released in the brain start these changes at about 8 years old and these continue into the teenage years.
- Bodies change on the inside and outside and feelings also change a lot.
- Many aspects of a person’s body changes, including: Height, weight, body shape, size and even smell. These changes will be different for everyone as everyone grows at their own rate.
- Feelings are a big part of puberty as young people get used to their changing bodies and new experiences as a young adult. Sometimes young people may feel excited, happy, sad, angry or frustrated. Some young people feel moody and their feelings can change very quickly from one mood to another. This is a normal part of puberty.

Recap and warm up and build confidence in using the scientific language for the private and personal parts of the body.
Ask:

- Why do we use scientific language to describe the personal and private parts of the body?
- Let’s remember the language we have learnt before.
- Take it in turns to say the names of the personal and private parts of the body.

Include: Vulva; Vagina; Penis; Testicles; Breasts; Anus;

Growing knowledge and understanding about Puberty: Knowledge Harvest
Explain to the children that they are going to watch a film about puberty and in particular about the physical and emotional changes that occur in most girls and most boys as they grow older.
The DVD will include some drawings of male and female bodies and the personal and private parts of the body.
Remind the class about embarrassment strategies.
Watch film clips about puberty for example:
Always Puberty education Changing and Growing Up
https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=tKfJ8w7XX6E

Fast forward 7mins20 to 10mins18 to use in hygiene lesson

Ask: What have you found out? What happens for most girls and most boys at puberty?

Highlight key changes for most girls and most boys

(Include: body shape and growth changes; muscle growth changes; body hair growth, changes to personal and private body parts ie lengthening and widening of penis and growth of testicles; breast development; sperm production and wet dreams and periods starting.)

Ask if anyone has any questions?

Independent activity:
In pairs:
Grow your knowledge about puberty by doing a true or false quiz about puberty.
Feedback and share.
Rectify any misconceptions.
Give the opportunity to ask more questions.

Elicit depth of understanding by asking:
Can anyone make the link between puberty and human reproduction?

Assessment for and of learning:
Can children describe the key changes at puberty for most girls and most boys?

Essential skill1
Identity, Self Awareness, resilience and Managing feelings
Closing activities:

Puberty and confidence

Ask: How could growing confidence skills help children and young people going through puberty?

Watch a film clip like:

https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=j2oCP_wk1TA

Or Childline website:

Highlight some strategies for growing confidence, for example:

- Remember you can talk about your worries
- Try not to compare yourself to others
- If you feel things are not going right, don’t worry you can try again
- Practise whatever you want to be

Ask children to share and/or record which they think would be helpful.

Question Box:

Give all children the opportunity to write a question that they or a year four child might want to ask after this lesson.

Place in a question box and return to these questions in a later lesson.

Where to get help:

Remind and reassure children that if they have a question or want to talk about a worry after this lesson that it is always ok to ask for help. Explain who, when and where they can get this help.

Guidance

Explain learning for today’s lesson and it fits into the learning journey for this unit of PSHE.
Building knowledge and confidence to talk about and ask questions about puberty for most girls and most boys

Ask children how they feel about this learning. Once again acknowledge the difference between RSE lessons and other lessons in the curriculum. Emphasise that learning about their bodies and how most children change at puberty will help them to build the knowledge and understanding that will help to keep them safe. Highlight that it is very understandable to feel embarrassed and recap some coping strategies.

For example:

- Take three slow calming out breaths
- Say to yourself: this feeling will pass
- Remind yourself of the reasons for this learning
- Try a grounding technique

Split into gender groups to explore puberty for most girls and boys.

Recap learning about puberty for most girls using a website like:

The Menstrupedia Comic
https://www.menstrupedia.com/comic/english

Ask: What causes children to change into adults?
Explain the role of the pituitary gland and hormones.
Ask the children how they feel about growing and changing and experiencing puberty:
Ask for volunteers to stand on an imaginary line in the classroom to show how they are feeling about growing up. Explain that the feelings continuum starts at one end with feelings such as: feeling scared and worried through to not sure to ok to feeling excited and ending with can’t wait. How can we make sure we keep everyone safe? Volunteers share reasons for choices.

Reassure and explain that:
As children grow and change it is normal to feel a mixture of feelings including excited and worried.

Recap key aspects of puberty including:
When it is likely to happen; weight, shape and height changes; breast development; body hair growth; vaginal discharge; periods starting.
Also explain where vulva, vagina, clitoris, urethra and anus are located using an appropriate image or model.

Grow knowledge and understanding by watching and listening to clips from a website such as: Betty Bus, to learn more about what a period is; how to use a pad; listen to some young people talk about periods and test your knowledge with a quiz.
https://bettyforschools.co.uk/resources/8-11-year-olds/part-one

Highlight and reassure that periods are a normal and natural part of growing up and are something to celebrate and be proud of!

Discuss ways of keeping healthy during a period. Include:

Ask what the children know about mood swings and puberty?

Explain that the hormones that cause the changes at puberty can also cause changes in mood.

A person going through puberty may feel happy, sad, cross all within a short span of time.

Ask for ideas for how someone could cope with these mood swings?

Include strategies such as:

- Understanding that this is a normal part of puberty and to some extent it happens to everybody; try counting to 10 or other relaxation strategies; talk about your feelings with a trusted adult; stay active, have a balanced diet and get enough rest and sleep.

Fancying people:

Explain that at puberty and the release of hormones means that this is a time when someone can start to feel differently about other people, for example they may start to fancy people and thinking about having a girlfriend or boyfriend. Reassure that this is normal and healthy. Highlight that it is also normal and healthy not to feel like this. Make sure everyone feels included by mentioning girlfriends and girlfriends, boyfriends and boyfriends and girlfriends and boyfriends. Also highlight that sometimes young people have a crush on a celebrity or someone in a band that they don’t know. Reassure that this is normal and healthy and is a bit like practising for when you have a relationship with someone you know. Highlight that it is also normal and healthy not to feel like this.

Growing confidence with sanitary pads and tampons

Give the children the opportunity to explore a selection of sanitary pads and tampons. Explain how they work and recap how to keep safe and healthy during a period.

Give the children the opportunity to ask questions.
Puberty for most boys:

Recap learning about puberty for most boys using a website like:

The Menstrupedia Comic
https://www.menstrupedia.com/comic/english

Ask: What causes children to change into adults?

Explain the role of the pituitary gland and hormones.

Ask the children how they feel about growing and changing and experiencing puberty:

Ask for volunteers to stand on an imaginary line in the classroom to show how they are feeling about growing up. Explain that the feelings continuum starts at one end with feelings such as: feeling scared and worried through to not sure to ok to feeling excited and ending with can’t wait. How can we make sure we keep everyone safe? Volunteers share reasons for choices.

Reassure and explain that:

As children grow and change it is normal to feel a mixture of feelings including excited and worried.

Recap key aspects of puberty including:

When it is likely to happen; weight, shape and height changes; body hair growth; voice changing; sperm production and wet dreams

- Also explain where Penis, Scrotum, Testicles, Bladder, Sperm tubes, Foreskin and urethra are located using an appropriate image or model.

Grow knowledge and understanding about puberty for most boys by watching and listening to a film clip such as:

Prior knowledge activities:
Ask the children to discuss in pairs what they understand by the word hygiene?
Develop thinking by asking:
Which other words do you think of when you hear the word hygiene?
Why do you think we are thinking about hygiene in our RSE lessons?
What is the link between puberty and hygiene?
What is the opposite of hygiene?

Knowledge Harvest
Watch a film clip, such as:
From Always Growing and Changing Puberty Education https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=tKfJ8w7XX6E from 7min 18 to 10mins 03 to develop knowledge and understanding of the link between puberty and hygiene.
Ask what the children have found out about hygiene and puberty? Ask what they think would be most important in looking after themselves during puberty?

Discuss what else they could do to look after themselves during puberty?

Highlight and include:

Diet; rest, relaxation; exercise etc.

Independent activity:

Ask the children in pairs to read a selection of young people’s problems.

Discuss solution focussed suggestions for help and caring thinking.

Share and /or record ideas.

Rectify any misconceptions.

How could we celebrate puberty for most girls and most boys?

Watch this clip and find out how girl’s starting their periods are celebrated around the world to find out some ideas.

https://bettyforschools.co.uk/resources/8-11-year-olds/part-two

Discuss and share ideas.

Give the children the opportunity to explore texts like:

- The Care and Keeping of you by Valorie Schaefer
- The Girl’s Body Book by Kelli Dunham
- Guy Stuff: The Body Book for Boys by Cara Familian Natterson
- The Boy’s Body Book by Kelli Dunham

Taking care of yourself:

Remind children to keep talking during puberty to ask questions and discuss how you feel.

Affirmation

Although everyone is growing and changing you are still, unique you!

Try an activity like Go Noodle Rainbow Breath activity

https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=O29e4rRMv4 and think about everything that makes you, you.

Reflection on learning

At the end of the unit ask children to reflect and record:

- What have I learnt?
- What I have enjoyed?
- What would I like to know more about?

Any questions?

Core Messages for KS2 Pupils about Puberty and Relationships

1. In Your Own Time
   • At this age, some of you might start feeling attracted to or fancy people but some of you might not
   • There is no set time for these feeling to start, so don’t worry if you don’t have these feelings.

2. Be Yourself
   • How you feel about yourself, and your gender identity and your relationships may change at this time or in the future
   • You have a right to be who you want to be and not to be restricted by gender stereotypes.

3. Accept your changing body
   • Bodies develop at different speeds and into all different shapes and sizes, not just the ones you see in the media
   • You have the right to ask questions and get support with these changes.

4. Enjoy it
   • Friendships should be fun!
   • If friends don’t make you feel good about being yourself, then are they good friends?

5. Stay Safe
   • You are the boss of your body; you have the right to say if you don’t like how you are being touched
   • Pay attention to your early warning signs and talk to a trusted person if you feel at all uncomfortable.

6. Know Your Feelings
   • Puberty can be a very confusing time where you might find your mood changing often and you might have more extreme feelings about yourself and others
   • Try and name your feelings and know that all feelings are ok, it is what you decide to do about them that matters.

7. Stay In Control
   • Think about what you share with others - telling or keeping secrets
   • Notice your early warning signs and act on them!

8. Keep Talking
   • Keep talking to your friends and family and ask questions when you need to
   • There’s nothing so awful (or too small) to talk to someone about.

9. Stay Connected
   • Remember there are people around you (parents, carers, trusted adults, teachers, mentors, ChildLine) you can get help and advice from if you’re faced with tricky decisions or situations or just need someone to talk to.
